R13 Smart Meters Fire Hazard Village of Tahsis

WHEREAS smart meters appear to have a significant fire hazard risk as reported from jurisdictions all over North America, particularly in areas susceptible to high precipitation, and for that reason are under moratorium or are even being removed in many places, and also given that a progressive installation and study was overlooked in favour of a blanket rollout installation in British Columbia,

THEREFORE IT BE RESOLVED that the Minister responsible provide statistical evidence proving beyond any doubt that the smart meters currently in use in BC are equal to or superior to analog meters in accuracy, cause no harmful radiation, meet or exceed Canadian Safety Standards, in no way cause or contribute to an increased risk of fire under less than ideal conditions and are in fact, as safe as, or safer than analog meters,

Certified Correct

Iris Hesketh-Boles
AVICC Executive Coordinator
Thank you Carl and good morning delegates.

Let me begin by offering congratulations to Central Saanich, North Saanich and Sidney for Panorama Rec Centre being named “Hockeyville 2015”. That’s a credit to the high level of engagement in your communities with the recreational services you provide.

Thank you for this opportunity to provide an update on the work of UBCM. It’s good to see many familiar faces from the elected officials seminars just a few months ago.

Some of us today are attending our first area association annual meeting. AVICC is one of five associations within UBCM. The associations strengthen UBCM’s capacity to address regional issues through the resolutions endorsed by each, local advocacy and representation on our Executive.

At present, AVICC has three members on our Executive currently: Councillor Barbara Price, Mayor Nils Jensen and Director Jim Abram. Together they provide a voice for your region on our deliberations between conventions.

It's early in the day and you have a full agenda ahead of you, so I will get right to it.

Auditor General for Local Government

Four years ago the government introduced legislation to create the office of the Auditor General for Local Government. Business advocacy groups had been calling for the establishment of such an office for some time. You may also recall that Liberal leadership hopeful Christy Clark introduced the concept as part of her platform during a speech to the BC Chambers of Commerce.

Following her successful campaign, Premier Clark made the creation of a local government auditor general a priority. UBCM learned the idea was moving toward implementation when we were tipped off that consultations with business groups were underway. From the start, local governments were playing catch up.

When the province began meeting directly with local governments to seek input, the briefing materials provided were quite limited. To address this gap, UBCM prepared a context paper and shared it with our membership.

Governance was one of the issues we identified with the model the province was considering. At the time, none of the local government auditor generals in Canada had jurisdiction over more than one local government. This is in keeping with a principle typically followed for auditors general: they report to the jurisdiction they audit.

The province, though, would not accept a local government auditor general reporting to local governments. Again, pressure from the business lobby was a factor here, as was confirmed to UBCM by the Canadian Federation of Independent Business.

UBCM worked with the Ministry on the issue of governance and reporting. Eventually the province settled on a model in which the office reported to an independent audit council, which in turn was accountable to Minister of Community, Sport and Cultural Development.

UBCM also drew attention to the challenge of conducting performance audits for 191 separate government jurisdictions. This aspect of the office introduced a level of complexity that no other auditor general in Canada had to contend with – a point that very few understand.

The policy base for local government varies considerably from one community to the next. Each community is free to set levels of service that best meet the needs of the community.

Take the example of household solid waste management. Your community can have collection every two weeks or once a week. The service can be contracted out, or undertaken by staff. You can offer curbside recycling and compost collection or not. These are policy decisions by elected officials accountable to the electorate.

UBCM worked with the province to ensure that matters of policy were excluded from the scope of the auditor general for local government’s office. Without this exclusion there was a risk that an office in Surrey would be dictating which levels are appropriate to every community in B.C. – an outcome that would be a blow to the whole concept of local government.

Fast forward to a month ago. The opposition began to question the Minister about the slow delivery of reports. According to the Auditor General herself, it was taking more time than expected to complete performance audits because of the diversity among communities – very much what UBCM had advised at the outset.

Through a leaked document it was revealed that there were internal issues impacting the effectiveness of the office. Among these were complaints by staff that changing mandates were wasting the office’s resources – an irony for an office whose sole purpose was to support local government efficiency.

Eventually it was revealed that there was conflict between the auditor general for local government and the Audit Council over how the office would be reviewed. This ultimately led to the Auditor General being fired and an interim appointed. Throughout all of this there were numerous calls from the opposition and journalists to simply disband the office or fold it into the provincial auditor general.

So what now? One would hope the province - given the rocky consultation process leading into the creation of the office – would redouble its efforts to engage with UBCM to find a way ahead. Unfortunately, that has not been the case.

UBCM has yet to formally hear from Minister Oakes with regard to any of the events concerning the Auditor General for Local Government that transpired since January.

The Ministry notified UBCM that an independent review of the office was proceeding by providing a government news release shortly before it was distributed. The scope for the review, which to my knowledge has not been made public, indicates that consultation with local governments is optional. The Audit Council retained Chris Trumpy to complete the review by next week. Mr. Trumpy has a distinguished career in public service, but he will have his work cut out for him to complete the review in the time allotted.

UBCM’s policy as endorsed by the membership back in 2011 disagrees with the necessity of the office but directs us to continue negotiating with the province. From day one we have worked to make the best of the province’s determination to implement this office.

We will be meeting with Minister Oakes next week and will have some questions for her about the road ahead. For those of you that want to look into the issue in greater detail, please have a look at the context paper and policy paper on our website.

Expense Limits
Many of you are aware that an all-party committee of the legislature is preparing a report with recommendations for local government election expense limits. The deadline for the report to come before the Legislative Assembly is June 12.

UBCM provided a written submission to the Committee for Phase One consultations last fall. We supported the establishment of expense limits and provided the following principles to guide their development:

- Expense limits should be high enough to allow everyone to mount a reasonable campaign but not high enough to allow a few participants to dominate the campaign;
- They need to work for different sized communities; a formula based solely on the number of electors will not work; and
- Expense limits for elector organizations should have a neutral effect on the decision to create elector organizations.
We will also make a presentation to the all-party committee as part of its phase 2 consultations. We are finding ourselves between a rock and hard place though because the data analysis from the 2014 election is not yet available.

Part of the rationale for not including election expenses in the legislation introduced last was the opportunity to draw upon the data from the 2014 Election. If we want the final recommendations to reflect the current local election environment, we should be using the most recent data.

Unfortunately, the contractor hired to do this work is still processing the data, and it is not clear if or when it will be made publicly available. We understand the work is to be completed by mid-April. The Special Committee, though, will be wrapping up its public consultation process on April 17th.

Once the committee’s recommendations are released, I encourage everyone to review them to see how they will play out in your community. If the committee finds the right formula, I believe expense limits will safeguard election fairness and increase accessibility to the democratic process. UBCM is keeping watch and we will provide an update through our weekly newsletter, the Compass, once the recommendations are available.

Strong Fiscal Futures

Two years ago UBCM released a report, Strong Fiscal Futures, which examined the state of local government finance in BC. Our message was that while the finance system was currently stable, looming pressures from infrastructure replacement and increasing service demands threatened to make the property tax unaffordable for many British Columbians.

We proposed a joint process with the province to look at the system as a whole. Our aim was to bring together multiple provincial ministries to look at ways to contain costs. We also wanted to identify revenue sources that respond to economic growth to ease the burden on property taxpayers.

We met with the Premier back in 2013 to discuss the report. Although receptive to the report, the Premier declined to provide direction to advance a joint working group. We also discussed the need for a joint process with Minister Oakes on several occasions. Minister Oakes responded by offering a piece meal approach to address matters of provincial concern. The Minister has also indicated on two occasions a lack of provincial resources to support such a project.

Executive discussed the Province’s responses at our last meeting. We agreed that we couldn’t advance Strong Fiscal Futures without significant provincial involvement. We wrote to the Premier a second time to invite a meeting, but she declined, directing us instead to work with the Minister. As I mentioned earlier, we will be meeting with Minister Oakes next week. Following the meeting, Executive will take stock of our options.

BC Ferries

Yesterday Director Colin Palmer and Councillor Alison Morse led a session on the future of ferry services in BC. It was a pleasure for UBCM to work with AVICC to develop last year’s report on the socio-economic impacts of ferry fare increases. As Colin said, ferry fare increases have multiple impacts on all communities in your region and the BC economy as a whole.

Recent recommendations by the ferry commissioner indicate that the rate of fare increases is being pulled back closer to the rate of inflation. However, given the decline in ridership that has already taken place, continuing increases are unlikely to significantly reverse that trend.

I think we can take pride in the ferry fares report. The research has broadened the discussion of ferry fares to include the question: “how do these policies impact our communities?” The report will also serve as a yardstick for measuring the actions of the ferry commissioner, BC Ferries and the province over the coming years. AVICC has provided excellent leadership on this issue, and I look forward to hearing about your next steps.
Advocacy Days

To conclude, I want to highlight UBCM’s Advocacy Days, which will get underway next week.

Once again this year, the April meeting of UBCM Executive will be held in Victoria. Members of Executive will meet with MLAs from both sides of the House to raise awareness around local government issues. Our aim this year is to connect with 30 Ministers and MLAs.

Meetings have already been set with Ministers Oakes, Bennett, Lake, Anton, Stone, Cadieux, Rustad, Virk, Stilwell, Polak, Bond and Thomson.

We are also scheduled to sit down with MLAs Robinson, Bernier, Throness, Weaver, Sultan, James, Doug and Bill Routley, Eby, Heyman, Fraser, Krog, Herbert, Simpson, Ralston and Pimm.

This year we will focus three issues:

- First, we will be discussing the availability of funds for local governments under the $1.1 billion BC share of the New Building Canada Fund. We want the province to confirm that an equitable portion of funds will be dedicated to local infrastructure.

- Second, we want to provide an overview on the impact of mental health issues on local government policing costs. There is a need for greater provincial support in dealing with individuals with mental health issues in our communities.

- Finally, we are also going to talk about elements necessary for the Province to develop a “world class” land based spill preparedness and response framework. The proposed framework is one of the five conditions set out by the province with regard to Northern Gateway.

There are several features we are looking for in order to protect communities:

- an oversight organization that is provincially led and industry funded;
- a BC based contingency fund that is 100% industry funded that ensures a 100% cost recovery for local governments who have expended their own resources to clean up spills;
- response plans for high risk areas;
- an increase in emergency response staff; and
- industry funded wildlife and ecosystem restoration.

Next week looks like it will be quite busy; we will provide an update in the Compass after to tell you how things went.

Conclusion

Thank you for your attention this morning. Your feedback is important to me, so if you have comments or questions, please speak me later in the morning. You can also reach me by contacting either office of UBCM.

This year’s convention will be held in Vancouver September 21-25; I hope to see you there.

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

To the Members of Association of Vancouver Island and Coastal Communities

Report on the Financial Statements

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of Association of Vancouver Island and Coastal Communities, which comprise the statement of financial position as at December 31, 2014, the statements of operations and changes in net assets and cash flows for the year then ended, and notes, comprising a summary of significant accounting policies and other explanatory information.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditors' Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on our judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, we consider internal control relevant to the entity’s preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity’s internal control. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained in our audit is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion

In our opinion, the financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Association of Vancouver Island and Coastal Communities as at December 31, 2014, and its results of operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations.
Report on Other Legal and Regulatory Requirements

As required by the Society Act (British Columbia), we report that, in our opinion, the accounting policies applied by the Association of Vancouver Island and Coastal Communities in preparing and presenting the financial statements in accordance with Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations have been applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

ASSOCIATION OF VANCOUVER ISLAND AND COASTAL COMMUNITIES
Notes to Financial Statements

Year ended December 31, 2014

Nature of operations:
Association of Vancouver Island and Coastal Communities (the “Association”) is incorporated under the Society Act (British Columbia) and is exempt from the requirement to pay income taxes. Its purpose is to promote autonomy within local government and to advance the principles of local government. The Association represents the various municipalities and regional districts of Vancouver Island, Powell River and the Sunshine and Central Coasts.

1. Significant accounting policies:
These financial statements are prepared in accordance with Canadian Accounting Standards for Not-For-Profit Organizations (“ASNPO”) in Part III of the CPA Canada Handbook. The Association’s significant accounting policies are as follows:

(a) Basis of presentation:
These financial statements present the financial position, results of operations and changes in net assets of the Association and, as such, do not include all the assets, liabilities, revenue and expenses of the members of the Association.

There is no provision in the accounts for income taxes as the activities of the Association are conducted on a not-for-profit basis.

(b) Cash and cash equivalents:
Cash and cash equivalents are defined as cash and highly liquid investments consisting of term deposits with original maturities at the date of purchase of three months or less.

(c) Revenue recognition:
The Association follows the deferral method of accounting for contributions. Restricted contributions are recognized as revenue in the year in which the related expenses are incurred. Unrestricted contributions are recognized as revenue when received or receivable if the amount received can be reasonably estimated and collection is reasonably assured.

Annual meeting sponsorships, registration and exhibit revenues are recognized as revenue when the conference takes place.

Association dues are recognized as revenue in the year they are earned and collection is reasonably assured.
1. Significant accounting policies (continued):

   (d) Contributed materials and services:

   Due to the difficulty in determining fair value, contributed materials and services are not recognized in the financial statements.

   (e) Financial instruments:

   Financial instruments are recorded at fair value on initial recognition. Freestanding derivative instruments that are not in a qualifying hedging relationship and equity instruments that are quoted in an active market are subsequently measured at fair value. All other financial instruments are subsequently recorded at cost or amortized cost, unless management has elected to carry the instruments at fair value. The Association has not elected to carry any such financial instruments at fair value.

   Transaction costs incurred on the acquisition of financial instruments measured subsequently at fair value are expensed as incurred. All other financial instruments are adjusted by transaction costs incurred on acquisition and financing costs, which are amortized using the straight-line method (or effective interest rate method).

   Financial assets are assessed for impairment on an annual basis at the end of the fiscal year if there are indicators of impairment. If there is an indicator of impairment, the Association determines if there is a significant adverse change in the expected amount or timing of future cash flows from the financial asset. If there is a significant adverse change in the expected cash flows, the carrying value of the financial asset is reduced to the highest of the present value of the expected cash flows, the amount that could be realized from selling the financial asset or the amount the Association expects to realize by exercising its right to any collateral. If events and circumstances reverse in a future year, an impairment loss will be reversed to the extent of the improvement, not exceeding the initial carrying value.

   (f) Capital assets:

   In accordance with the ASNPO Handbook section 4431, "Tangible capital assets held by not-for-profit organizations" the Association has not capitalized any expenditures during the year. In 2014 there were no capital expenditures (2013 - $nil). Capital assets owned by the Association but which are not capitalized under this policy include furniture, computer hardware and software.
1. Significant accounting policies (continued):

   (g) Use of estimates:

   The preparation of financial statements in conformity with ASNPO requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the year. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

2. Cash and cash equivalents:

3. Deferred contributions:

   Deferred contributions consist of $44,665 (2013 - $44,665) of provincial grants restricted for the facilitation of the activities of the treaty advisory committee in addition to $5,750 (2013 - $6,167) of sponsorship revenues received in advance for the 2014 conference.

4. Contractual commitments:

   The Association has a contract with the Union of British Columbia Municipalities for secretarial and office services and has committed to pay $78,000 in 2015 in respect of this contract by way of quarterly payments. The amounts are subject to adjustment each January.

PRESENTATION DESCRIPTORS

Keynote Speaker - Tonia S. Winchester, Former Deputy Campaign Director, Washington State Initiative 502

Marijuana legalization is an important topic facing Vancouver Island and its surrounding communities. With Washington state just across the border implementing a state-wide recreational marijuana system and the launch of Canada's nationwide medical marijuana mail-to-order program, MMPR, the issue is even more pressing. What are the challenges of implementing full legalization, and how should communities start addressing the topic? What worked in Washington State, and how does the current system in Canada actually operate? Tonia will provide an overview of the Washington state campaign, the current MMPR model, and will answer your questions about what your community needs to be thinking about as you approach the Canadian federal elections this year.

Tonia is a former Seattle Prosecutor who worked as Deputy Campaign Director, Washington State Initiative 502 that successfully legalized marijuana in Washington State by a 56-44 margin in November of 2012. Her role included forging alliances and getting endorsements from many groups traditionally seen as hostile to marijuana reform, as well as speaking across the state advocating for a new approach to Washington State's marijuana laws.

Most recently Tonia led the initial operational team that established and managed the Tilray medical marijuana production facility in Nanaimo, British Columbia - one of the largest medical marijuana production facilities in all of Canada. Tonia continues to speak across both the US and Canada advocating for the responsible and regulated legalization of cannabis, as well as working to help ethical and progressive businesses get established within the cannabis industry.

Tonia received her B.A. from the University of Washington and graduated cum laude from Seattle University School of Law.

Regulation of Forest Management Activities on Private Managed Forest Land

The Managed Forest Council will discuss its role as the regulator of forest management practices on private managed forest land. The session will provide delegates with specific knowledge on the Managed Forest Program, its provincial mandate and the effectiveness of its professional reliance model in protecting five key resource areas on private managed forest land. The presentation is designed to answer questions elected officials may have around Council regulatory standards and how an owner’s performance around these standards are evaluated through its ongoing inspection and investigation program.

Presenter: Rod Davis, Chair, Managed Forest Council

Plenary Presentations

Future of Coastal Ferry Services
For decades, local governments have been concerned about the negative impacts of coastal ferry fare increases on their communities. In 2014, concerns intensified with fare increases, the implementation of provincially-mandated service cuts to lifeline ferry routes, and the release of the UBCM report Boatswains to the Bollards: A Socioeconomic Impact Analysis of BC Ferries that documented the serious socioeconomic impacts caused by high ferry fares. This session will provide an overview of the BC Ferry Commissioner's preliminary decision for price caps that will apply to coastal ferry fares for 2016-2020 and resulting potential implications. It will also provide background on the Coastal Regional District Chairs Group’s work and recent meetings with the Minister and the Ferry Commissioner. This session is intended to stimulate a lively discussion about visions for the coastal ferry service from 2016 forward, and next steps for local government to consider as the provincial government reviews the Commissioners Report and the Coastal Ferry Services Contract with BC Ferries from April to June 30.

Presenters: Colin Palmer, Director of the Powell River Regional District, Chair of the Regional District Coastal Ferry Group and AVICC Director and Alison Morse, Bowen Island Municipal Councillor, Island Trust Trustee and Co-Chair of the Ferry Advisory Committee Chairs

Who’s Covering Your Assets?
Local governments’ linear assets are the foundation on which our communities are built. The immediate and long-term successful recovery and rebuilding efforts following a natural catastrophe are critical to health, safety and community wellbeing. There is no insurance to cover the cost of repairs, so reliance is currently placed on funding from senior levels of government. Yet funding gaps in disaster programs will produce significant unfunded liabilities at the local government level. These gaps can be addressed with measured funding and established risk financing techniques. This session will focus on identifying those funding gaps, assessing their magnitude, and implementing mitigation techniques.

Presenter: Tom Barnes, CEO and General Counsel, Municipal Insurance Association

Concurrent Workshop Sessions

Why Municipal Support is Necessary: Building Strong Communities Through Affordable Housing
With greater proportions of our population living in core housing need (221,470 of British Columbia households in Core Housing Need in 2006 and 23% of all British Columbia households are paying more than 50% of their income on rent in 2014), compounded by limited funds and shrinking federal government support for housing, non-profit organizations are experiencing increased pressure to service our vulnerable sector with inadequate support. This session is a push for action by local governments to positively utilize their planning power to advance affordable housing initiatives. This session will provide an overview of why effective collaboration between municipal governments and non-profits is necessary, and will highlight specific ways municipal governments can support non-profits in developing affordable housing.

Presenters: Kevin Albers, CEO and Kaela Schramm, Director of Projects and Planning, M’akola Development Services

Wastewater Treatment/Resource Recovery Advances
An advanced wastewater treatment facility, Sechelt’s Water Resource Centre (WRC) is designed to process wastewater into dewatered biosolids suitable for composting and high quality effluent water suitable for a wide range of uses. State of the art technology and innovation in design reduce both pollutant discharge and operating costs. With noise and odour minimization, a compact footprint and appealing design, the WRC is integrated into a park space that complements the adjacent nature reserve and residential community. Removal of hormones and pharmaceuticals from effluent water using biochar made from the biosolids is slated to be tested at the WRC in 2015.

Presenter: Paul Nash, Project Coordinator, Sechelt Water Resource Centre

Planning for Island-wide Intermodal Transportation
Whether the focus is rapid transit in Greater Victoria, container shipping in Nanaimo, LNG in Port Alberni, passenger/cargo rail, export capacity, BC Ferry schedules, new road proposals, airport expansions, public transit efficiencies, foot passenger ferries, peak session shipping capacity, or barging solid waste, it is time for a comprehensive intermodal transportation plan to turn what is widely viewed as an 'Island liability' into an economic advantage. Our panel of experts will engage your ideas as we work toward a prioritized plan to improve connectiveness, efficiency and accessibility.

Panel Members: George Hanson, President, VIEA; Dave Willie, VIEA Director, Member of VIEA Transportation Committee, and former Qualicum Beach Councillor; Josie Osborne, Tofino Mayor and Alberni-Clayoquot RD Chair; Fred Bigelow, CEO, Comox Airport Commission; and Bernie Dumas, President & CEO, Nanaimo Port Authority

Converting Waste to Energy: How does it work? How does it fit? What does it cost? What are the impacts?
This information session will provide a high-level overview of energy extraction from the residual waste stream after recycling. Firstly, technologies will be discussed, from the conventional burning for heat, through the making of fuel from the waste, to the less conventional conversion of waste into burnable gas. We will see how waste to energy fits into an integrated waste management program, and how it might add value and what it could cost. Potential impacts, such as air pollution and ash disposal will be looked at as well as the greenhouse gas balance. Finally we hope to help you answer the question: Should this be something we believe is good for our community and society?

Presenter: Konrad Fichtner, P. Eng., Morrison Hershfield
